

Phillip Anthony was born in Glendale, California but grew up in Idaho Falls. The mountains served as inspiration to Phillip at an early age and were his first subjects. He moved to Florida in 1998 where the oceans and beaches became his new inspiration. By using a black and white palette, his paintings enable the viewer to place their personal memories and experiences into the scene, making each scene connect individually to each viewer. For Phillip, looking out over the sea and down from the mountain tops is a time where he can leave life's difficulties behind and focus on the all of the beauty and creation in the world. As the newest artist to our gallery, and a self-taught artist, his work is quickly gaining popularity.
